

Wedding Professional Wednesday: Special E, LLC

We thought the Special E would be a great organization for our new feature on the blog: Wedding Professional Wednesday! We hope to feature a Wedding Professional on a weekly basis so that you are aware of the talent we have in the Central Florida Area.

Between the hurricanes the last few weeks and attending the Knot party it truly reminded me how we each can make a difference to help our environment. One of the featured vendors at last week's party was the Special E.

Who are they you may ask? In their own words: Special E is a unique "green" service that rescues leftovers from meetings, conferences, trade shows, banquets, parties, weddings, and special events, then recycles them in ways that help our planet and people in need.

At last week's Knot Party all of the florals from the event were taken by Special E to the MD Anderson Cancer Center. I can only imagine how a fresh floral arrangement can brighten up a room or even better the spirit of someone undergoing treatment in a medical facility.

I visited the Special E site and found they had a very informative page that truly highlighted the wonderful work they are doing for our environment and our world. You can click here to be redirected to their website.

POSTED BY KERLINE DOCTEUR AT 6:08 AM 0 COMMENTS LINKS TO THIS POST

LABELS: PLANNING TIPS, SOCIAL EVENTS, WEDDING PROFESSIONAL WEDNESDAY